Ever since Princess Diana's tragic death on August 31, 1997, millions of words have been written and spoken about what really happened the night she died, and why. Perhaps, not unlike the murder of JFK, we will never truly know the whys and wherefores of that night. To put things into perspective, let's take a look at that fateful night.

WHAT HAPPENED THAT NIGHT: THE ACCIDENT

At precisely 12:15 A.M. on Sunday, August 31, 1997, the security staff of the Ritz Hotel were alerted.

Dodi and Diana were ready to depart through the rear entrance of the hotel. The green Range Rover and the decoy black Mercedes (the latter driven by the hotel's senior limousine driver) pulled out into the Place Vendome, circles the square and then returned to their parking spots.

"Liberal Logic" Watch: Bad Driver? In Debt? NYC Says Give Up Your Guns!

If you live in New York City and want to own a gun, a new law would make it more difficult - if you are a litterbug, have a poor driving record or are behind on bills. Under proposed revisions to the police department's handgun, rifle and shotgun permit procedures, the NYPD can reject gun license applicants for a number of silly reasons including:

The RENDER project

- Develop methods, techniques, software and data sets that will leverage diversity as a crucial source of innovation and creativity.
 - scale to very large amounts of data and hundreds of thousands of users, but also to a plurality of points of views and opinions
 - realistic data sets
 - open source extensions to popular communication and collaboration platforms (MediaWiki, WordPress)
- RENDER's results will be showcased
 - diversity-aware Wikipedia
 - diversity-minded access to journalistic content
 - novel customer management support in global enterprises.

RENDER will help realize a world where information is acquired and shared in a fundamentally different manner than the consensual approach promoted by movements such as Web 2.0, and where communication and collaboration across the borders of social, cultural or professional communities are truly enabled via advanced Web technology, supporting one of the credos of European society: "United in diversity".

This workshop

- ...aims to provide an interdisciplinary forum for researchers and practitioners to present and discuss their ideas related to the challenges posed by diversity on the Web.

- Topics
 - Risks and advantages of diversity and diversification on the Web
 - Facets of knowledge diversity and conceptual and formal models for representing and understanding diversity
 - Discovery and mining of corpora for diversity-related information
 - Use of Natural Language Processing techniques for diversity mining
 - Classifying Web 2.0 content items such as blog posts, videos, tweets, and wiki-edits by their biases
 - Usage and benefits of diversity in the corporate context, e.g. in order to understand feedback and communication with the customer
 - Enabling or improving communication and collaboration over barriers induced by diversity
 - Extensions to Web applications taking diversity into account
 - Exposing and explaining diversity to end users
 - User experiences avoiding the radicalization of groups by exposing them to alternatives
 - User interfaces allowing the explicit annotation of content with diversity markers
 - Studies on the acceptance by end-users of diversified applications.
